

The invention provides tinted contact lenses, and methods for their manufacture, that alter the natural color of the lens wearer's iris. The lenses use a base layer of translucent color having a clear central zone and a translucent color zone in combination with one or more layers of translucent color, one or more layers of opaque color, or a combination thereof, each of which additional zones has a clear central zone and a zone of color.

10